

Are you familiar with the obligations set forth by the General Data Protection Regulation? Unsure who the data controller is and who the data processor is? What is the role of the data protection officer, and do you need a privacy policy? Do you know what measures you must take to ensure an appropriate level of security for the processing of personal data? If you are unsure of the answers to these and many other GDPR questions, then the workshop is just for you.

The Personal Data Protection Agency invites primarily data protection officers from the public and private sectors, as well as anyone else interested in how to align business operations with the GDPR, to a free online workshop titled "GDPR – Basic Module," which will take place on August 23, 2023, starting at 10:00 AM.

The workshop is primarily intended for data protection officers, but also for anyone who wants to learn the basics of the General Data Protection Regulation, inform themselves about their obligations, as well as their rights. Additionally, the workshop is an opportunity to ask specific questions to the Agency's experts and clarify your doubts.

We recommend reviewing the brochure: 10 Key Steps for GDPR Compliance: and the Self-Assessment Questionnaire for GDPR Compliance.

*Registration for the workshop is not required, but we recommend joining about ten minutes early via the link below to secure your spot in the workshop (the number of participants is limited to 100).
