

The Agency for the Protection of Personal Data has received information that there has been a "leak" of personal data of more than one million individuals who are vehicle owners.

We inform the public that supervisory proceedings are currently underway against all relevant entities in this specific case, and all circumstances are being determined, as well as the actual data controller of the database containing the relevant personal data.

We will regularly inform the public of all further relevant information.