

File No.: EXP202213028

RESOLUTION No.: R/00366/2023

Considering the complaint filed on November 3, 2022, with this Agency by Mr. A.A.A. (hereinafter, the complainant) against SILICON RADIO, S.L. (URL.1) (hereinafter, the respondent), for not having duly addressed his right to erasure.

After carrying out the procedural actions provided for in Title VIII of Organic Law 3/2018, of December 5, on the Protection of Personal Data and Guarantee of Digital Rights (hereinafter LOPDGDD), the following FACTS have been established:

FIRST: The complainant's data was published at URL URL.2 in May 2017 in an article that makes a series of accusations against him: "The accusations and links to A.A.A. are based on pure rumors and unverified information. It has become a hate speech, whose sole purpose is to infringe upon the Right to Honor, image, and professional reputation of A.A.A., who, despite the time that has passed, is still linked to false and inaccurate accusations that harm his private and professional life."

The complainant addressed the respondent on several occasions since April 2021 requesting the erasure of his data, without his right being duly addressed.

SECOND: In accordance with Article 65.4 of the LOPDGDD, which has provided a mechanism prior to the admission of complaints filed with the AEPD, consisting of forwarding them to the Data Protection Officers designated by the data controllers or processors, for the purposes provided for in Article 37 of the aforementioned regulation, or to them when they have not been designated, the complaint was forwarded to the respondent entity for analysis and to respond to the complainant and this Agency within one month.

The respondent states that it became aware of the request for the first time on January 9, 2023.

"Once analyzed, and not seeing in the subject of the news referred to any accusation that constitutes hate speech against the honor, image, and reputation of anyone, we proceed to delete what was requested by the complainant (we attach the link to the updated news: URL.2)."

THIRD: The result of the transfer procedure indicated in the previous Fact did not allow for the understanding that the complainant's claims were satisfied. Consequently, on February 3, 2023, for the purposes provided for in Article 64.1 of the LOPDGDD, the Director of the Spanish Agency for Data Protection agreed to admit the complaint for processing and informed the parties that the maximum period to resolve this procedure, which is understood to have commenced by means of said admission agreement, will be six months.

The aforementioned agreement granted the respondent entity a hearing period, so that within ten working days it could present any allegations it deemed appropriate, without any response having been received.

LEGAL GROUNDS

FIRST: The Director of the Spanish Agency for Data Protection is competent to resolve this matter, in accordance with the provisions of paragraph 2 of Article 56 in relation to paragraph 1 f) of Article 57, both of Regulation (EU) 2016/679 of the European Parliament and of the Council of April 27, 2016, on the protection of natural persons with regard to the processing of personal data and on the free movement of such data (hereinafter, GDPR); and in Article 47 of the LOPDGDD.

SECOND: In accordance with the provisions of Article 55 of the GDPR, the Spanish Agency for Data Protection is competent to perform the functions assigned to it in Article 57, including the enforcement of the Regulation and promoting awareness among controllers and processors regarding their obligations, as well as handling complaints submitted by a data subject and investigating the reasons for them.

Correspondingly, Article 31 of the GDPR establishes the obligation of controllers and processors to cooperate with the supervisory authority that requests it in the performance of its functions. In cases where they have designated a data protection officer, Article 39 of the GDPR assigns this officer the function of cooperating with that authority.

In accordance with this regulation, prior to the admission of the complaint that gives rise to this procedure, it was forwarded to the responsible entity for analysis, to respond to this Agency within one month, and to demonstrate that it had provided the complainant with the appropriate response, in the event of exercising the rights regulated in Articles 15 to 22 of the GDPR.

This admission agreement determines the opening of the present procedure for failure to address a request for the exercise of the rights established in Articles 15 to 22 of the GDPR, regulated in Article 64.1 of the LOPDGDD, according to which:

“1. When the procedure refers exclusively to the failure to address a request for the exercise of the rights established in Articles 15 to 22 of Regulation (EU) 2016/679, it will be initiated by an admission agreement, which will be adopted in accordance with the provisions of the following article.”

In this case, the deadline for resolving the procedure will be six months from the date on which the claimant was notified of the admission agreement for processing. Once this period has elapsed, the interested party may consider their claim accepted.

The purification of administrative responsibilities within the framework of a sanctioning procedure is not deemed appropriate, as its exceptional nature implies that, whenever possible, preference should be given to alternative mechanisms that are supported by current regulations.

It is the exclusive competence of this Agency to assess whether there are administrative responsibilities that should be purified in a sanctioning procedure and, consequently, the decision regarding its initiation, with no obligation to initiate a procedure upon any request made by a third party. Such a decision must be based on the existence of elements that justify the initiation of sanctioning activity, circumstances that do not occur in the present case, considering that with the present procedure the guarantees and rights of the claimant are duly restored.

THIRD: The rights of individuals regarding the protection of personal data are regulated in Articles 15 to 22 of the GDPR and Articles 13 to 18 of the LOPDGDD. The rights of access, rectification, deletion, opposition, the right to limit processing, and the right to portability are contemplated.

The formal aspects related to the exercise of these rights are established in Articles 12 of the GDPR and 12 of the LOPDGDD.

Additionally, consideration is given to what is expressed in Recitals 59 and following of the GDPR.

In accordance with the provisions of these regulations, the data controller must establish formulas and mechanisms to facilitate the exercise of rights by the interested party, which will be free of charge (without prejudice to the provisions of Articles 12.5 and 15.3 of the GDPR), and is obliged to respond to requests made no later than one month, unless it can demonstrate that it is unable to identify the interested party, and to express its reasons in case it does not intend to comply with such request. The burden of proof regarding compliance with the duty to respond to the request for the exercise of rights made by the affected party falls on the controller.

The communication addressed to the interested party in connection with their request must be expressed in a concise, transparent, intelligible, and easily accessible manner, using clear and simple language.

Regarding the right of access to personal data, in accordance with Article 13 of the LOPDGDD, when the exercise of the right refers to a large amount of data, the controller may request the affected party to specify the "data or processing activities to which the request refers." The right will be understood as granted if the controller provides remote access to the data, considering the request as attended (although the interested party may request the information referred to in the aspects provided in Article 15 of the GDPR).

The exercise of this right may be considered repetitive on more than one occasion during the period of six months, unless there is a legitimate reason for it. On the other hand, the request will be considered excessive when the affected party chooses a means other than the one offered that entails a disproportionate cost, which must be borne by the affected party.

FOURTH: Article 17 of the GDPR, which regulates the right to erasure of personal data, establishes the following:

- “1. The data subject shall have the right to obtain from the controller the erasure of personal data concerning them without undue delay, and the controller shall be obliged to erase the personal data without undue delay when one of the following circumstances applies:
- a) the personal data are no longer necessary in relation to the purposes for which they were collected or otherwise processed;
 - b) the data subject withdraws consent on which the processing is based in accordance with Article 6(1)(a) or Article 9(2)(a), and where there is no other legal ground for the processing;
 - c) the data subject objects to the processing pursuant to Article 21(1), and there are no overriding legitimate grounds for the processing, or the data subject objects to the processing pursuant to Article 21(2);
 - d) the personal data have been unlawfully processed;
 - e) the personal data must be erased for compliance with a legal obligation in Union or Member State law to which the controller is subject;
 - f) the personal data have been collected in relation to the offer of information society services referred to in Article 8(1).
2. When the controller has made the personal data public and is obliged, under paragraph 1, to erase such data, the controller, taking into account the available technology and the cost of implementation, shall take reasonable steps, including technical measures, to inform controllers that are processing the personal data of the data subject's request for erasure of any links to, or copies or replications of, those personal data.
3. Paragraphs 1 and 2 shall not apply to the extent that processing is necessary:
- a) for exercising the right of freedom of expression and information;
 - b) for compliance with a legal obligation which requires processing by Union or Member State law to which the controller is subject, or for the performance of a task carried out in the public interest or in the exercise of official authority vested in the controller;
 - c) for reasons of public interest in the area of public health in accordance with Article 9(2)(h) and (i), and paragraph 3;
 - d) for archiving purposes in the public interest, scientific or historical research purposes or statistical purposes in accordance with Article 89(1), in so far as the right referred to in paragraph 1 is likely to render impossible or seriously impair the achievement of the objectives of that processing, or
 - e) for the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims.”

FIFTH: In the case analyzed here, it has been established that the complainant exercised their right to erasure, without the respondent attending to it. During the processing of this procedure, the respondent has stated that, when they became aware of the complainant's request, “(...) we proceed to delete what was requested by the complainant (we attach a link to the updated news:”. However, no evidence has been provided that allows us to consider that they have expressly communicated to the complainant the attention to their right, as established by data protection regulations. Therefore, it is appropriate to uphold the present rights complaint.

In view of the cited provisions and other generally applicable provisions, the Director of the Spanish Agency for Data Protection RESOLVES:

FIRST: TO UPHOLD the complaint filed by Mr. A.A.A. and to instruct SILICON RADIO, S.L. (URL.1) with NIF B87995841, to send the complainant a certification within ten working days following the notification of this resolution, stating that they have attended to the requested right to erasure or that it has been duly denied, indicating the reasons why the request cannot be attended to, in accordance with the provisions of this resolution. The actions taken as a result of this Resolution must be communicated to this Agency within the same period. Non-compliance with this resolution could result in the commission of an infringement of Article 83.6 of the GDPR, classified as very serious for the purposes of prescription in Article 72.1(m) of the LOPDGDD, which will be sanctioned in accordance with Article 58.2 of the GDPR.

SECOND: NOTIFY this resolution to A.A.A. and to SILICON RADIO, S.L. (URL.1).

In accordance with the provisions of Article 50 of the LOPDGDD, this Resolution will be made public once it has been notified to the interested parties.
